2. A new member is required to agree formally in writing to uphold the Code of Conduct.
3. Each year on the 1st October all Full Members will be required to affirm the Code of Conduct.
4. If a non-member wishes to join the association the Code of Conduct will come into force at the point the membership is approved and the member is accepted into membership by the Board of Directors.
5. A non-member while being a non-member cannot be held to account for breaches of the Code of Conduct, but will not be admitted to the Association Membership until such time as the non-member can demonstrate that they meet the Code.
6. Representations will only be accepted pertaining organisations or entities that operate within the Air Ambulance Community in Europe.
7. Any representations pertaining a member or applicant of the association which questions that member or future members conduct in relation to the Code, must be made to the Chairman or National Director and the following actions will result:
 - 7.1. The Chairman or National Director with the knowledge of the full board may dismiss such representation if it has no substance or is not covered by the Code of Conduct.
 - 7.2. The representation will be presented to the board of directors to establish an independent panel to investigate the representation. The Tribunal Panel will be made of a minimum of 3 independent directors that are not associated with any element of the representation being made. The Chairman and National Director will not be eligible to sit on this panel.
 - 7.3. The panel will investigate the contents of the representation by:
 - 7.3.1. Meeting the member / proposed member.
 - 7.3.2. Meeting the individual or organisation that has made the representation.
 - 7.3.3. Reviewing the provided information both in the representation and through meetings.
 - 7.3.4. Take advice from such secondary authority as the Tribunal Panel sees fit (e.g. Fundraising Standards Board, CQC) to support any conclusion.
 - 7.3.5. Holding formal meetings where detailed records are taken with any party.
8. The Tribunal Panel once formed will within approximately three months aim to publish their verdict of the Representation and if it is to be “upheld” or “declined.” The Tribunal Panel is not obliged to publish its conclusions to the general public only parties involved in the Representation. The conclusions can take the following forms:

The Chairman, National Director or both parties will review the Representation and Conclusion and any new information provided. The Chairman and National Directors conclusions are final.

Rules

Public relations

10. Full members of the association must when publishing information of any form (e.g. Press Release, Marketing Material, Blogs) ensure accuracy of the content of their materials, ensuring facts and statements are substantiated, transparent and not confusing or defamatory. Any statement about specific performance of any organisation should have factual evidence to support any claim.

Membership Conduct

11. Members, their staff, trustees and volunteers should ensure that all of their representatives conduct their affairs openly and professionally. A healthy debate is acceptable, however if a Representative feels threatened, has inappropriate language used at them, is personal integrity is questioned either publically or privately this will be treated as a breach of the code by the individual/s who act in that way. The Tribunal Panel will judge such matters on the balance of probability.
12. A Member is obligated to act as fairly as possible with other Members, Non-Members, other organisations, volunteers, trustees, staff or public. If a Member has a sustained dispute with any party (e.g. another member, non-member (over 18 months) that remains unresolved over 18 months the dispute is considered a breach of the Code of Conduct. The Tribunal Panel can conclude that a Member or Non-Member is in breach of this clause however disciplinary action will be commensurate to the level of the dispute.

Charity Law / Commercial Stability / Operational Cohesion

13. The Association establishes and guides best practice. It expects all Full Members to endeavour to achieve best practice in their charity fundraising, administration, air operations, tasking and clinical performance. If a flagrant and repeated breach of the law or best practice is observed it will be considered a breach of this Code of Conduct.
14. To deliver a service to their patient that is in line with standard operating procedures (SOP's) for the service being provided.
15. Commercial or Financial conflicts will not be discussed through the association. Any dispute or issue pertaining a charity or ambulance service of a financial matter will be considered a private matter to be resolved between the relevant parties. If under clause 7 a sustained dispute has arisen where parties are unable to or unwilling to resolve the commercial / financial dispute the associations Tribunal Panel will not have jurisdiction and the Chairman or National Director under clause 2.1 will dismiss such representations. Parties are encouraged to resolve their conflicts without resorting to litigation; this code actively encourages mutual working practices. The Association and the Code of Conduct supports competition.

Benefits, Resources and Logo

16. The Association actively encourages members to use the association's benefits; however the misuse of such benefits by a member for commercial gain of that member or bringing the association or its members into disrepute is a breach of the Code of Conduct. This includes the sharing of membership benefits, information or resources with a non-member.
17. Benefits and AAA resources remain the property of the Association and its members. Those benefits and resources should not be offered or provided to any other third parties without the express permission of the AAA in writing. All Benefits and Resources are copyrighted and intellectual property of the association. Any misuse of such benefits or resources is a breach of this Code of Conduct.
18. The AAA logo is open to be used by Members showing their commitment to the Air Ambulance Community and desire to support the advancement of air ambulance charities, ambulance services and their supply chain.
 - 18.1. The logo or any logo issued by the association remains the property of the association and its members.
 - 18.2. Its unauthorised use in any circumstance other than that detailed in the AAA logo policy is a breach of this Code of Conduct.
 - 18.3. The logo or any mark issued by the association should not be used in any way that could discredit the AAA or its members, this includes and is not exhaustive, the endorsement of products, next to statements or facts that are inaccurate or false, in images or with other resources indicating AAA support where it is not given.
